Blog Happenings

Jason Topp at Redeeming Riches launched a new site design this month! Now found at www.redeemingriches.com

My family is in the process of simplifying our lives – it's one of our 2009 resolutions. We want to have the time and energy to follow our dreams, work for God, and strengthen our family. In order to attain this, one of the key words in our family is simplicity.

As a way to help you simplify, I thought it would be nice to have one resource that highlighted the activities of blogs within the Christian Personal Finance niche. With the help of the participating blogs we have teamed up to offer you monthly highlights from these nine fantastic Christian personal finance blogs.

Each report will highlight the following from the participating blogs:

(1) Best for Christians (2) Most Discussed (3) Most Popular (4) Editor's Pick

All of this, of course, is provided free of charge. This first report can be downloaded by anyone, but all future reports will only be available to MH4C Special Reports subscribers.

Please feel free to distribute this PDF as you wish. You may, however, want to encourage your friends to subscribe to *MH4C Special Reports. This report is only one of several that will be sent out several times a month. Each report contains valuable information to help you honor God with your finances.
